Berry specialises in tax, trusts and estate planning for international clients, including high net worth individuals and financial institutions.

Berry advises non-UK domiciled individuals on a wide range of issues, including domicile, the tax implications of UK residence, pre-arrival planning, cross-border succession planning, and the use of asset holding structures.

Berry has extensive experience working with trustees of non UK resident trusts. He advises on general trust law issues and the UK tax treatment of trustees, settlors, and beneficiaries. He assists with trust structuring and the preparation of bespoke trust documentation.
