James is a senior associate in the corporate team.

James is a Corporate lawyer with a focus on entrepreneurs, private businesses, high net wealth individuals and their trusted advisors, and family offices. His practice involves a wide range of corporate matters, including mergers & acquisitions, corporate restructuring and investor issues. He works closely with our Private Client team, as well as trusted advisors to high net wealth individuals and family offices.

He has a particular emphasis on advising private individuals and family offices in their business affairs - guiding them through investment strategies and corporate wealth structuring, navigating shareholder issues, devising corporate succession planning strategies, and resolving disputes between family members, investors or joint venture partners.

James previously worked in Australia, acting for members of the Australian Forbes Rich List.
