A dual qualified lawyer in Italy and New York, Marco specializes in international dispute resolution, dealing with both commercial and public international law matters.

He has acted as counsel and advocate for construction and energy companies in international arbitration proceedings under the ICC and the CAM Rules arising from projects or transactions in the Middle East, CIS, and Mediterranean region. Marco's experience covers post-award proceedings, including enforcement cases under the New York Convention and setting aside proceedings before the Italian courts. With a six-month secondment in a multinational fashion company, Marco has also developed an expertise in commercial distribution matters.

Having previously worked at the Milan Chamber of Arbitration and as deputy counsel in the Swiss-Italian Case Management team at the ICC in Paris, Marco's counsel work benefits from his inside perspective on institutional arbitrations.

During his LLM at New York University, Marco acted as Graduate Editor for the NYU Journal of International Law and Politics. The Italian Society of International and EU law awarded Marco's final thesis at Bocconi University the Padovani Prize for the best of the year on international law matters.
