Ryan is an associate in the dispute resolution team.

Ryan's practice spans the spectrum of commercial, civil fraud, asset recovery and insolvency. With a developing expertise in the field of professional negligence, Ryan has acted for a number of high net worth individuals and companies in their private disputes against law firms, successfully bringing matters to trial that include allegations of dishonest assistance, breach of fiduciary duty and negligence. Ryan was this year part of the team that successfully sued a well-known law firm for over £1.5m in damages, establishing findings of negligence in the Commercial Court.

Ryan also has a growing practice acting for clients engaged in high net worth family disputes and in conjunction with this, regularly advises on matters of asset recovery in foreign jurisdictions. In a highly publicised matter, Ryan has also acted for government authorities in matters of corporate fraud and has experience acting for and against public institutions in this area.

With a range of experience in the field of commercial litigation, dealing with the whole lifetime of the litigation cycle, Ryan's clients are entrepreneurs, high net worth individuals, financial institutions, art dealers and successful families, to name just a few.
